

The Judge in Traffic Court

“The trial of traffic infraction cases calls for the talents of a person who understands the special societal function of traffic law enforcement, who is committed to its educational objective, and who has the personal capability of dealing with people expeditiously, fairly, and in good spirit.”

People v Lucas (1978) 82 CA3d 47, 54, 147 CR 235