WHY SHOULD I FILE A RESPONSE?

You should complete and file the Response form so that you can take part in the case. Filing a Response will allow you to ask for or oppose requests for a custody and visitation schedule, a monthly child and/or spousal support amount, and property and other orders. If you do not file the Response within 30 days of being served, the petitioner can get a default Judgment against you. This means that the court enters a judgment where the petitioner gets everything asked for in their Petition.

WHAT ARE THE IMPORTANT DEADLINES?

The court has important things you should do to keep your case on track. The first is to file and serve your "Preliminary Declaration of Disclosure" within 60 days of filing your Response. For help with the disclosure forms, you can visit the Self Help Center's website at www.scscourt.org, click on Complete Forms at Home to obtain the form packet and sample. You may fill it out on your own or attend the Center's virtual online workshop. Visit www.scscourt.org, then "Self Help" then click "Workshops" for more information.

The Preliminary Declaration of Disclosures are mandatory. There is one exception to this rule when a Response has been filed. If you have case is for Nullity only and there is no request for a divorce in the alternative. In this instance only, you do not have to complete the disclosure process.

There are additional deadlines you can read about in the court's Local Rules and the California Rules of Court. You can find both Rules on our website (www.scscourt.org) or at the Santa Clara County Law Library.

If you do not follow the rules and deadlines your case may be dismissed.

HOW LONG DOES IT TAKE TO FINISH THE DIVORCE?

The earliest you can be divorced is 6 months and a day from the date you were served with the divorce forms or 6 months from the date you file a Response, if a Proof of Service of Summons was not filed. However, you will not automatically be divorced after 6 months. If you or your spouse/partner do not take the necessary steps to keep the divorce moving forward you will never be divorced. For information regarding how to finish your case, complete a Request to Review to Finalize form online at www.scscourt.org search "Divorce Case Review". If you do not have internet access, a hard copy of the review form is available in the main lobby at the Family Justice Center Courthouse.

LEGAL CUSTODY:

Who makes decisions about the child's upbringing? For example, who gets to make the important decisions affecting your child's life (such as education, health, and general welfare).

If you will make all the legal decisions, you have sole legal custody. If you and the other parent will both be involved in decision-making, you have "joint" legal custody.

PHYSICAL CUSTODY:

Where will the child live? For example, if your child will live mostly with you, you have sole physical custody. If your child will live with you part of the time and the other parent part of the time, you have "joint" physical custody.

NOTICE: You may redact (black out) social security numbers from any written material filed with the court in this case other than a form used to collect child, spousal or partner support.

NOTICE—CANCELLATION OF RIGHTS: Dissolution or legal separation may automatically cancel the rights of a domestic partner or spouse under the other domestic partner's or spouse's will, trust, retirement plan, power of attorney, pay-on-death bank account, survivorship rights to any property owned in joint tenancy, and any other similar thing. It does not automatically cancel the right of a domestic partner or spouse as beneficiary of the other partner's or spouse's life insurance policy. You should review these matters, as well as any credit cards, other credit accounts, insurance policies, retirement plans, and credit reports, to determine whether they should be changed or whether you should take any other actions. Some changes may require the agreement of your partner or spouse or a court order.
